Early Season Meets Get Underway

Spring Breaks Dominate Schedule

This issue covers about 15 meets from early March through March 27th. Several meets were reported late and were included in factoring individual season leaders lists but will not be published until the next issue, the biggest being the Ada meet.

On Track

By John Hoke, Editor

I have to apologize for the lateness of this issue, which is going to hit the mail almost a full week later than scheduled. For the past five seasons I've had the luxury of being able to devote almost 100% of my time to track and field while only doing light duty as the publisher of Amateur WRESTLING NEWS. However, this year I've had to step back into the breach to play a major role in the production of the magazine that really makes Oklahoma TRACK & FIELD NEWS possible. For those that may be new to these pages, or haven't realized it, OTF&N is the infant sister publication to AWN, now in its 42nd year of covering amateur wrestling on a national basis at all levels with a circulation of over 8,000. Without the facilities and support that AWN provides it would be financially impossible to keep OTF&N afloat, therefore, when push comes to shove, or duty calls, AWN gets the attention it needs.

Anyway, to shorten the proverbial long story, track and wrestling have overlapped in a major way for the past month and it has really been a struggle to get the issues out on time. So, again, my apologies for the lateness of this issue but we should have clear sailing from now until the end of the season.

Now that I've got that off my chest we can go on.

This issue contains top six season leader lists in all classes and an overall listing as well. My thanks to those coaches and individuals who have helped compile these listings over the past two weeks, I truly could not have done it without your help. I'm using a new format this year which makes it possible to sort the lists quicker and output them in a more readable form. But, I'm still working some of the bugs out so bear with me while I get it fine-tuned. I entered data and results at some pretty horrendous hours and was usually in a big hurry so watch out for a lot of typographical errors.

The cutoff for being included in these listings was March 28, so meets being held on the last weekend of March will be factored into the next issue's lists. Remember that meet results must be in our office on Monday morning following the meet in order to be included. The team rankings were taken straight from the individual listings by assigning points just as if it had been the state meet. This gives some strange positioning at this time of year but it is the most legitimate way to do a mid-season ranking in my opinion.

Regional assignments should be made by the next issue and I hope to be able to get them in if they are released by the O.S.S.A.A. in time. I've been getting quite a few calls regarding these assignments and I'll repeat my advice: if you want to have an impact on your assignment contact your representative on the Advisory Committee listed at the bottom right of this page.

The weather has really been great for track this past week. Let's keep our fingers crossed that it keeps up.

See you at a track meet!
